In order to replace the local train and make secondary lines more attractive, Deutsche Bundesbahn (DB) introduced the new City-Bahn train category at the timetable change on September 30, 1984. According to the motto „City-Bahn – Without traffic jams at hourly intervals“, a dense interval timetable was introduced and existing n-carriages were modernized for this purpose.

The Cologne-Overath-Gummersbach-Meinerzhagen line, which was in danger of being decommissioned, was the first line to be equipped with this service. 25 n-carriages, seven of them control cars, were given a modern interior and painted orange/pebble gray, similar to the Rhein-Ruhr S-Bahn. A café was added to the sets.

THE PRINTE – A DELICACY FROM LAMBERTZ

Far beyond the city and state borders, the „Lambertz'sche Printe“ enjoys great popularity. The history of the crispy pastry dates back to the year 1688, when a small bakery was founded in Aachen's Sonnenstraße. Today, the traditional family business sells its various pastries worldwide and is the world market leader in seasonal pastries. The incomparable taste of the "Printe" comes from fine spices such as cloves, cardamom and coriander. When Henry Lambertz's daughter accidentally dipped her traditional "Kräuterprinte" [Herbal Printe] in chocolate, the first German pastry with a chocolate coating was created – the extremely popular "Schokoladenprinte" [Chocolate Printe]. The product range was expanded in 1938 with the production of the „Saftprinte“ [Juice Printe].
